

CASE STORY

Prime Food Poland

The cooperation with DMRI has started in the middle of 2011 and from the beginning was focused on yield optimisation in narrow range of cuts. Very promising results from the trial project resulted in extension the project for the whole slaughter, cutting and deboning activity. Optimisation project with time one year was one of the biggest challenge company had for last years.

With a great service from DMRI and involvement from whole staff in Prime Food project finished with even better than expected results, showing great savings and quality improvement. Since starting of cooperation also few of other projects with conduction of DMRI took place eg. training for sales forces, training for production supervisors, line balancing in deboning department.

Paweł Nowak, CEO, Prime Food

“The cooperation between Prime Food and DMRI is a great example how the business could cooperate with consultancy companies. Not only because great saving we have achieved and quality improvements, but mostly because of big change in the all employees approach, is the thing had I appreciated personally very much in our cooperation. With the extremely experienced consultants and the unique follow up method of work the DMRI helped Prime Food to change the business attitude. After the projects we have made together I see that all of our employees are focus on continues improvements and reduction all possible losses in our work. I believe it is one of the major things we can based our future expansion and company developments” – said Paweł Nowak Prime Foods CEO.

CASE STORY

DMRI has developed a concept for a boost of companies' productivity – a concept based on a success fee. The concept takes basis in a company's unutilized potential concerning product standards, skills and manning. Initially DMRI makes a short survey of the profit of a company's unutilized potentials. Depending on the size of the potential – we make an agreement in how to split the potential.

Projects like this is without any investments for the company – it takes basis in the company's present situation and DMRI provides all the necessary training and coaching of operators and supervisors in how to improve yields and utilization of the manning. The concept was presented to the CEO from Prime Food Mr. Pawel Novak, who immediately found interest in the concept.
